Cardiologist Welcomed to Sequatchie Valley

Dr. Makhni Brings Over Twenty-Eight years of Global Medical Experience to Area

JASPER, TN – A desire to truly make a difference in the lives of people – plus the attraction of living in such a beautiful part of the country – has brought an experienced cardiologist to practice in the Sequatchie Valley.

Malvinder S. Makhni, M.D. F.A.C.C., has already begun seeing patients and consulting with area family practice physicians.

“I am happy to work and live in a place that is so beautiful and so blessed with welcoming, friendly people,” Dr. Makhni said. “My wife and I had a choice of several professional opportunities, but we chose this area because of the beauty, the people, and because it is where we feel we can make the most positive impact on the health of others.”

Dr. Makhni’s wife, Parveen Makhni, M.D., an internal medicine specialist with her own private practice, will share an office suite with him in the Grandview Medical Office Building.

Prior to arriving in Tennessee, Dr. Makhni practiced for over 24 years in Port St. Lucie, Fla., where he was on staff at Port St. Lucie Medical Center as Chief of Department of Medicine, Lawnwood Regional Medical Center as the Director of Cardiac Catherization Laboratory, and Treasure Coast

Diagnostics as a part owner. He and his wife have owned Makhni Cardiology and Medical Associates since 1986.

He earned his medical degree in 1973, practicing in hospitals in India, Scotland and England before relocating and practicing in the United States since 1977.

"Dr. Makhni brings a high standard of cardiology clinical experience and professionalism," said Bruce Baldwin, CEO of Grandview Medical Center. "The area is fortunate to have a physician of his reputation."

"I plan to help educate as much as I plan to help heal," Dr. Makhni said. "I hope to help convince people to adopt a healthy lifestyle, which is essential for a good quality of life."

He and his wife have three children: two are graduates of MIT and are now enrolled in Harvard Medical School. The youngest is a junior at MIT. For leisure, Dr. Makhni enjoys world travel, photography and exercise.

Dr. Makhni is now accepting new patients by physician referral. He said it is important for patients to maintain relationships and routine check-ups with their primary care physicians.

"If a patient does develop cardiac health problems, it's important to address them as early as possible," Dr. Makhni said. "The family physician is one of the most important steps in the process. I am looking forward to working with them in helping improve the lives of their patients."

Dr. Makhni's office is in Suite 103 of the Grandview Medical Office Building, located at 980 Hwy. 28 in Jasper, Tenn. He may be reached by calling 423-942-1415.
